

A commitment to safety for you, for us, and for our community

As we all adjust to what a “new normal” looks like, rest assured that the safety of you, our technicians and community are a top priority. All of us here at adhere to the safety protocols currently in place for our area and have implemented additional precautions to ensure the health and safety of our customers and technicians.

Some of the many ways we are adapting our service calls and office policies are listed below:

- Routine cleaning and disinfecting of tools;
- Temperature checks of staff at the beginning of every shift;
- Additional PPE to protect staff and customers;
- Phone screening of customer’s health prior to entering home;
- Company vehicles limited to use by only one employee at a time;
- Social distancing and staggered work schedules;
- Limited/restricted access to office trailers or offices to manage capacity;
- Remote training opportunities on risk factors and protection.

Our cleaning and disinfecting protocols, in addition to social distancing guidelines set forth by local and state authorities, are designed and carried out to ensure your peace of mind from the moment our technicians arrive until the time they leave.

We are here to serve your needs with the same level of professional service and response times that you’ve come to expect—and with all the proper protocols in place to keep everyone safe and healthy.
